CLIMATE CHANGE, GREENHOUSE EMISSIONS AND CARBON FOOTPRINT AT THE SAME TIME

A Carbon Footprint is a measure of the impact our activities have on the environment in terms of the amount of greenhouse gases we produce. It is measured in units of carbon dioxide.

Carbon footprint quantification, analysis and reduction are key to preventing this, for example, by enhancing energy efficiency, mitigating carbon emissions by means of green energy and then compensating for remaining GHG emissions by investing in carbon offsets, with a final goal to becoming carbon neutral.

TEAK LOG PRICE EVOLUTION FORM JANUARY OF 2006 TO MARCH 2008.

In order to improve our trips, we asked our last trip costumer's to spend a few minutes and write down their feedback. These are some of them.

Looking for the bad ones??? Sorry, we haven't got any....

"The trip has been very interesting, the excursions, and the visits to the different places everywhere cannot be forgotten"

"Especially gratifying was to realize the amount of advertisements in several sawmill requiring teak wood"

"We were very pleased with how well organized the trip was. We could clearly see that the organizers had done very well how to manage the trip to get the best results"

"Regarding the organization, we are very satisfied. The adventure, excursions and visits were well balanced"

"We got in every single moment"
